PROPERTY RESEARCH SURVEY
Factors influencing access to finance for real estate transactions in Sub Saharan Africa
(A lender’s perspective)

Researcher: Patrick T. KATABUA
Supervisor: Professor Francois VIRULY

We have an academic questionnaire we would like you to partake in, and it should take no more than 15 minutes to complete. Please return completed questionnaires to Patrick T. Katabua anytime before Friday 10th of April 2009. (Completed surveys may be sent electronically by clicking the “Submit by email” button on the last page).

Responses will be treated as confidential and are for inclusion in an academic Research Report as partial fulfilment for a M.Sc. (Building) from the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg.

The exploratory research study is entitled “Factors influencing access to finance for real estate transactions in Sub Saharan Africa (A lender’s perspective)”. The investigation into the central research problem is guided by a primary research question: What are the factors that can facilitate access to finance for property transactions in Sub Saharan Africa?” The objective of the research is to establish and assess the critical factors and dynamics influencing the feasibility studies / evaluations for financing of property transactions. A secondary objective would be to assess the challenges, risks and mitigants when doing business in Africa.

Your assistance in this survey is greatly appreciated, thanks in advance for your cooperation. We offer to send you a summary of results if you wish to receive it. Please do contact the researcher if you require further information or clarifications.
Yours sincerely,

Patrick T. KATABUA

Cash flow

1. It is not possible to provide 100% LTC / LTV for property transactions
2. Initial project DSCR & ICR may be below the norm, provided that client demonstrates serviceability from other sources
3. The LTV / LTC can easily be amended provided that the lender’s expected ROE is met
4. Pre-sales & Pre-lets do not test the market’s acceptability of a particular development

5. Other, specify

Lender’s ROE

1. The bank’s expected minimum ROE is the same across all type of assets
2. The expected minimum ROE varies depending on the geographical location of the asset
3. A proposal may still be financed even if expected ROE is not met
4. Other, specify

Pricing

1. Client relationship does not play a role in determining the pricing of a transaction
2. The quality (style, age, tenancy) of the asset plays a role in the pricing charged
3. Pricing may be reduced for clients with proven track record
4. Other, specify

Risk Grading

1. Proposals may not be declined purely based on their risk grading
2. Higher transaction pricing may compensate for high risk grading
3. The risk grading is a fair representation of a client’s probability of default
4. Provided that adequate security is obtained, proposals with high risk grading may still be financed
5. Other, specify
SECTION D: GENERAL QUESTIONS RELATING TO THE BUSINESS OPERATION

The following questions are aimed to bring out any further construct which may be of beneficial substance to the research

1. What are the major challenges that you are faced with when financing property transactions?

2. What are the main potential risks when financing property transactions in your region(s)?

3. Can the above risk(s) be mitigated? If so, kindly elaborate

4. In your opinion, is doing business in rest of Africa more risky that doing business in RSA? Kindly elaborate

5. Lastly, give an example of the dynamics a deal should have in order for it to be a “perfect transaction” (What does a “sweet deal” look like?)
We appreciate the time you took to complete this questionnaire, please include any additional comments you may have regarding the factors & dynamics influencing property financing:
