

The answer will be in beats per minute. The student need not concern himself with the theory of the formula.

The final result is then recorded neatly and in ink on the patient's bed-letter. The preliminary calculations need not appear with it.

The houseman may then confidently be asked to sign the student's daily-attendance D.P. card.

Correspondence.

The Editor,

" The Leech."

Sir,—Though not wishing to be querulous, I must emphasize a grievance which the Medical Students have: We are frequently not notified by the authorities of matters which are of interest to us.

To quote a few examples: We were not invited to attend the opening of the new Operating Theatres Block, nor of the Bok Street Clinic; we were not notified of the Flag Hoisting Ceremony at Milner Park, a function which many of us would have made a point of attending; an examination in English or Afrikaans Essay has to be passed by us, but no notice was given at the Medical School of the date of the examination conducted early this year.

In these respects we feel that we have not received the consideration to which we are entitled.

One measure I should strongly urge, that the authorities be approached and be requested to post at the Medical School all notices affecting us, whether they be posted at Milner Park or not.

I am, etc.,

ONE OF MANY.
